Comments, feedback, explanation of grade:

- 1) Kareem's biggest strength was analyzing his evidence very well
- 2) Had no weakness N/A
- 3) The conclusion could have been a little longer, The conclusion should have also kept the reader thinking about something.

Imagine that you are 14 and living in the streets during winter, it is cold and you are very hungry. Wouldn't you wish that someone with an upper hand in life could help you? When you have a person who has the resources to get them through life they are usually very selfish because they don't think there is any need to help others. The responsibility of those who have power in communities and around the world is to help those in need. [If they do, then people will have more opportunities and have better lives.]

Due to the high amount of poverty around the world, people with power should really look to help people who are in need, to help them get through life a little bit more easily. Our world would be a lot better if the amount of poverty in the world would be reduced. A lot of people just don't realize that it feels better to give than to receive. On streets all around New York there are homeless people who just sit in a corner and wait for someone to give them some change. They wait just so that they can smile because a person they don't even know made their life just a ~~tiny bit~~ <sup>little better.</sup> There are a lot of rich people who decide not to give their money away and they pretend not to even see the homeless, those are the people who have the most power and the opportunity to help others.

Not everyone in the world is fortunate enough to live in a country that is so rich and has so much power. They also don't have the opportunity to have a good life due to all of the diseases and sicknesses going around. Every year 2.3 million people die in Africa due to HIV and AIDS. People with power should really aid in the research by contributing some money or speaking out and making a stand. If we can stop the deaths of people with deadly diseases in the world we will be able to do a lot of good things for the world. HIV and AIDS isn't the only disease that is going around in the world, we also can make a stop to a lot of diseases or sicknesses, if we get powerful people to make something happen things will just get better.

Our world is really becoming a dirty place and the streets look like a garbage dump. When you look at the streets of New York you can really say it is one of the dirtiest places on earth, but we can make a change to that if we make a stand and have powerful people say something about it. If an ordinary citizen of New York were to aware government officials of the environmental conditions in New York, the problem would not be taken in to much consideration as it would if a person of higher power were to take a stand and let them know. And says that they want the world cleaner, nothing will happen but if a person who is known globally for making changes in communities says that same thing there will be a change. Not only can government officials make a change in New York, but the citizens should put their trash where it belongs, in a garbage can. Even if you can't make a stand, you can always influence other people to contribute to the cause.

In conclusion powerful people should help not only our state but our world as a whole by working towards the resolution to poverty, disease and the environment. They can make our country more successful, stable and a lot happier.

essay write out

In this world there are people who have power that are selfish with it, there are also people with power who use it to help people. The responsibility of those people who have power is to help those who are in need of help. If they do, then people will have more opportunities and have better lives.

Because of the high amount of poverty around the world, people with power should really look to help poor people. Our world would be much better if the amount of poverty was reduced.

People who live in bad neighborhoods shouldn't live ~~through~~ such a bad experience. People with <sup>power</sup> power should really try to make neighborhoods more safe and more clean.

People around the world are dying due to diseases. <sup>Powerful</sup> ~~Powerful~~ people should really give money to help research to maybe stop so many deaths in the future.

In conclusion powerful people should really start to help other people besides themselves. Sometimes if you stop thinking about yourself for a second it could help a lot of people's problems.
