This is very general. I think if you give a personal story instead it would work better.

Entry #3: Love

Love can hurt so much and you will know how it feels once you lost that special person that was real good to you. Love is an emotion and every person has that emotion but no to everyone and what I mean is you don't love everyone but certain people that are special to you. What is the real definition of love? Is it when you buy someone something or is it when you do certain you wouldn't do for others. People show love in many different ways and there is nothing wrong with that because you are showing them that they are real special to you. Love is what everyone needs and want because it feels so good and because it's healthy. You especially need love from your mother because a mother's love and fathers is love that you can't get from any one else.

I think love is wonderful because it will make you look at the world in a different way and do things you never thought you would do.

Love is tender,

love is sweet,

love will knock you off your feet.

It feels good to be loved and know that someone in the world is thinking about you. Love is love and what can you do about it. Love can be wonderful, love can hurt, love can play tricks on you, love can be tricky, love could be anything but it depends how you want it to be.
