

10/8/06

Humanities

this is very focused w/ good details.
you need to work on run-on sentences.

Entry # 1: My First Time

When I was younger the most vivid thing I remembered was when I first rode a bike. I was three years old when I first rode a two wheeler and I thought it was fun. It ^{became} important to me when I noticed it was ~~a~~ easier way to getting around than walking and when I noticed ^a lot of kids knew how to ride a bike and I wanted to learn. I rode with my friends everyday going to the store and going to each others' house. It was important to me because it was privilege learning how to ride a bike. ^I it was kind of like my transportation other than walking here or there. I could just ride by bike. I would like riding down hills because I would go so fast and the wind would be blowing in my face and it would feel so good. Also I liked racing with my bike. I always thought it was fun because you try and go your fastest and it would come down to who went the fastest. I remember one time when I was racing with my friend and our bikes got tangled because we were too close and we fell with the bikes tangled and our feet got stuck in the bars. All I got were some cuts and that's it and my friend got some cuts also. I also remembered my two friends were racing down the hill and their bikes got too close and got tangled. Then they just started tumbling over with the bikes and they were tangled and one of them was at the bottom with his bike on top of him then my other friend was on top of that with his bike on top of him. But they jus got some scrapes.