

October, 23 2006

Humanities/Dali

Entry#3: Basketball

The thing I like to best, and the thing I like to play the best is basketball. I like basketball because I think its a fun sport to play and its a good way to get a long with other people. When I'm mad I like to play basketball because it helps to calm me down, and it makes me feel better. To me basketball gets you closer to other people and their interest. Like say you are playing with or against someone you don't know and you start to play them. You get to know how they play and you start talking to get to know them more, and what their personality is like. To some people basketball is a boring sport, but I think they have that idea because they don't understand what is going and how the sport is played. When I get older I would like to be a basketball player because I think I have the skills and potential for basketball. This became important to me when I notice people would what are you going to do after school and I will tell them am going to play basketball. They would say you always playing basketball, why you like to play basketball so much. I would say I love the game I think that if I practice a lot and do good in school I could make it all the way to the NBA. Also the only reason you would judge me playing basketball everyday after school is because you don't under stand the sport and you don't like it that much.

The people who influences me in keep playing basketball and to keep trying hard are my parents, my girlfriend and my teachers because they know what I want to be in life. So I listen to what they tell me and do what I can to try and accomplish it.

Why I Like Basketball

The thing I like to do, and the thing I like to play the best is basketball. I like basketball because I think its a fun sport to play and its a good way to get along with other people. When I'm mad I like to play basketball because it helps to calm me down, and it makes me feel better. To me basketball gets you closer to other people and their interest. Like say you are playing with or against someone you don't know and you start to play them. You get to know how they play, and you start talking to get to know them more, and what their personality is like. To some people basketball is a boring sport, but I think they have that idea because they don't understand what is going on and how the sport is played. When I get older I would like to be a basketball player because I think I have the skills and potential for basketball. This became important to me when I notice people would ask what are you going to do after school and I will tell them am going to play basketball. They would say you always playing basketball, why you like to play basketball so much. I would say I love the game I think that if I practice a lot and do good in school I could make it all the way to the NBA. Also the only reason you would judge me playing basketball every day after school is because you don't understand the sport, and you don't like it that much.