

Name:
Title of Assign:

Cultural Aspects (language, customs, dress, art, etc.)	Religious Aspects (having to do with belief and practices in regards to God/Allah)	Political Aspects (having to do with the principles and policies of those who govern a family, community or country)
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In their society husband and wife don't meet before the wedding • Since the women cannot dress to awe the opposite sex they carefully select their dress and attempt to dazzle each other • During the wedding the groom will throw gold coins at the guest from small velvet bags. • Sons are more welcome than daughters at birth • The family doesn't announce a marriage because it is a private arrangement 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Some families circumcise their daughters because after entering the rite, they might think it is the will of Allah • Cleaniness is valued (during the wedding the bride gets a bikini wax) • Men divide their time among their wives because they have to treat each of them the same way to show "equality" • Saturday is the first day of the week in Saudi Arabia • Muslims celebrate Allah and their religion on Fridays. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • In Saudi sex is considered taboo and as a result when they have female gatherings sex, men, and children dominate their discussion • women do not have the right to an education • Abortion is uncommon because most mothers want their child (they hope for a son) • Alcohol is banned except to nonbelievers • Men and women aren't allowed in the same restaurant together unless they are husband and wife

Below record three questions for your group's next discussion:

1. How do the laws and customs of Saudi Arabia ensure the constant unequal treatment of women?
2. How does sultana's pregnancy affect Kareem and sultana's future?
3. How do you think her son would grow up?